Centennial Gardens' Birds - Trustee Lynn Pombonyo

All are invited to join our bird and other nature lovers from around the world for this weekend's Great Backyard Bird Count. In Floral Park, you can celebrate at our Centennial Gardens & Bird Sanctuary, as well as right in your own backyard. Come to Centennial Gardens this Friday, February 18th, 12-4pm; Saturday, February 19th, 12-3pm; and Sunday, February 20th, 12-2pm to take in winter nature and the array of unique birds that are part of it. Floral Park's own bird enthusiast, Harry Taylor, will be there to share his own excitement and expertise all about birds. In addition, students between the ages of five and eighteen may join our photo contests to share your best photos of the birds in Centennial Gardens. Contest photos must be submitted to the rec center, pool building by Tuesday, February 22nd at 3pm.

Those of you who enjoy keeping track of the different bird species you see are invited to share your findings. Bird counts must be submitted to the rec center, pool building by Monday, February 21st at 1pm to be included in Floral Park's data.

Please see the Centennial Gardens facebook page, the Village of Floral Park website at fpvillage.org, and the Great Backyard Bird Count website at birdcount.org for fascinating facts, interesting information, and creative ideas about the many fun-filled ways you can join this global event. Enjoy!
